Death of David McKinley Causes Great Grief—Masonic Funeral Tuesday.

Squire David McKinley, after a very brief illness of pneumonia, passed away at his home in Jefferson on Sunday, February 25, 1912, at 12 o'clock. On Monday of last week he went to the city, and it being a very bad rainy day, Mr. McKinley caught cold. Upon his return home he went to bed with a severe chill, which was followed by pneumonia. He became seriously ill from the first and every attention was shown by the physician and friends, but to no avail.

David McKinley was born in Jefferson county, near Wilkinsville, April 11, 1842, and therefore was nearly 70 years of age. In early life he was engaged in farming. He represented the Fisherville district and Jeffersontown district in each assembly several years ago, and rendered valuable service to the county while holding this office. He came to Jeffersontown about twelve years ago and has been a well known surveyor and notary public since.

David McKinley was one of the best known Masons in Jefferson county. He had been a Mason since January 28, 1868, when he took his third degree, and served Philip Swigert Lodge at Fisherville as secretary for twenty six years. When the Jeffersontown Lodge was organized seven years ago he removed his family here and faithfully served as secretary of this lodge until his death. He was made a Royal Arch Mason in 1870, and was held in high esteem by all of his brothers, who loved him for his faithfulness and loyalty. Only a short time ago Mr. McKinley's picture was enlarged and placed upon the walls of the Jeffersontown lodge room as a testimony of the love and affection of his brothers in the lodge. In the death of David McKinley, Masonry loses one of its most estimable members, one who not only taught the noble principles of this order, but practiced them in his daily life.

The loss to Masonry is keenly felt by its members of his lodge, but in the death of Mr. McKinley the community loses one of its best citizens, a man of highest integrity and worth. To know him was to love him, as he was ready to lend a helping hand or give an encouraging word.

The funeral services were held at the residence Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. E. W. Elliott. The services were concluded with Masonic ceremonies at the Jeffersontown cemetery. The remains were laid to rest in the presence of a large number of Masons and friends from all over the country. Mr. Geo. Kopenicker, past master of Preston Lodge in the city, came out and conducted the services, assisted by a large number of the members of Fisherville and Jeffersontown lodges. Beautiful floral designs were presented by Jeffersontown and Philip Swigert lodges and by many friends. The pall bearers, all Masons, were John H. Gilliland, Gus Shoupe, Joseph Ellingsworth, Edie Craig, Frank Carrithers and Fannie Robins.

Deceased is survived by his wife, a son, Edward, Mrs. E. B. Bridwell, of Roott; one brother, Mr. D. B. McKinley, of Jeffersontown; and one sister, Mrs. Alice Callahan, of Denver, Colo.

Tribute of Praise.

Dry Ridge, Feb. 26.—David McKinley is dead and I know that other and wortlier pen will write his epitaph, but I must add a tribute of praise. Only a few short years ago I said you could claim him in me. He was born and lived in this community almost continuously until he moved to Jeffersontown some thirteen years ago. Nearly every man, woman and child here loved, honored and respected him. All instinctively turned to him when in trouble of any kind, and he ever proved a friend to those whose cause was just. He was good and kind to the poor and unfortunate. Pleasant, genial, cheerful, he was most welcome wherever he chose to go, and in my father's home, where he always visited, he was thrice welcome.

I have known few men with so many good qualities, none with as few faults. He was such a useful, lovable man that his death seems premature, although he had nearly reached his three score years and ten. This entire community expressed great anxiety during his illness and profound regret at his death. Many lives have been made brighter and happier by his kindness and counsel. His death will leave numbers without their best friend.

When I think of what his death means to his wife, daughter, sister and brother words fail me. I can only offer my loving sympathy and be glad with them that in their memories of him he leaves so much that is pleasant and no "Rosary of regrets."

A FRIEND.
Lost a Good, True Friend.

The Jeffersontown Wilsonville correspondent paid the following tribute to Mr. McKinley:

"It was with sadness and the deepest regret that the people of this vicinity heard of the death of David McKinley, of Jeffersontown. While many knew of his serious illness and the slight hopes entertained for his recovery, when the news of his passing reached us, the shock it caused, as is ever the case, a shock, a feeling of awe and wonder when we realize the spirit of one whom we have known for many years has been wafted from its earthly habitation to a home not made with hands. Mr. McKinley was well known here, having spent many years of his early life in this joyful, friendly disposition, won his way into the hearts of almost everyone with whom he came in contact. He had a large circle of friends, was well liked by his death that has lost a good friend, his family, a devoted husband and father, the community in which he lived, a kind, accommodating neighbor, and the county one of its best and most useful citizens. To the sorrowing ones we extend our heartfelt sympathy."

Grand Noble Man.

We take the following from the letter of O. G. Whizz written from end of the Fern Creek electric line:

"Sorry, indeed, were we to hear the sad news of the death of David McKinley. As a Mason, he was a grand and noble man, honest, upright and conscientious in his dealings with his fellowmen. He was a friend to everybody, and tried to make everyone his friend. Many, many days will pass before we will be able to find his equal. Our sympathy is with the family in their sad bereavement, and may God's richest blessings buoy them up above the boughs of grief caused by this affliction."

"Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into thy reward."

A Kind Friend.

Cane Run, Feb. 26.—The many friends of Mr. David McKinley were sorry to hear of his death. He was well known here, and we all feel like we have lost a kind friend, and one who was ready ready to lend a helping hand. Mrs. McKinley and her daughter and granddaughter have the sympathy of their friends here.

DEATH

Causes Sadness In Two Families.

Place For Sock Social Changed—

A. B. C. Writes Good Letter.

St. Matthews, Feb. 26.—Groundhog day, Valentine day and even George Washington's birthday have passed and still we have gloomy, gummy weather, which tries our patience to the uttermost.

Streak of Sunshine.

Springdale has been brightened wonderfully by the addition of Miss Mayme Hettlinger at her many ways. She is like a streak of sunshine in pushing aside everything disagreeable. We hope sister Head will keep her in this neighborhood.

Place For Social Changed.

The sock social to be given by the Ladies' Aid of Beargrass church Friday evening, March 1, at 8 o'clock, will not be held at the home of Mrs. Julie Arterburn, as announced, the place having been changed on account of the sudden illness of Mrs. Arterburn's mother. The social will be held at the same time as announced but at the home of Mrs. Whitecom at St. Matthews, instead of at Mrs. Arterburn's. A large crowd is expected.

Rev. Wm. Laird Moves.

Great mourning and lamentation prevails among the members of Springdale church over the removal of Rev. H. H. Laird recently to Indianapolis, which will be in the service of three churches. Neighbors and friends, also, are grieved to lose them, especially A. B. C., who is heartbroken. I felt it was too good to last long and must join Dick Swieler in his misquotation of the poem:

"Never loved a bright jewel,
Till I found it in thy bright black eye.
O'pent when I came to love me well.
It was not to me once."

Sad Deaths.

We are sorry to report the death of Little Sadie Laird Burger, who died February 20th. Too fragile for this earth, but left a big aching void in the hearts of her parents, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy. She cannot come back to them, but they can go to her.

An exceedingly sad death was that of Mr. Phillip Hahn a few days since. In the prime of life and worthy in every way, it is indeed hard to be reconciled to this dissertation of Providence. To the bereaved family and friends we extend our sympathy and the words of Jesus: "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou will know hereafter."

Returned Home.

We means such a multitude of folks here that I am unable to list all the return of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kyser. I cannot attempt to name them. They have a growing description of Florida, where they visited all points of interest on land and sea, even to mounting to the top of a lighthouse. Last night these hospitable folks entertained the newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rothenberger, and other admirers and friends who joined them in welcoming them home.

They are out by travel, for we Americans pursue pleasure with the same haste and strenuous effort that we do work, consequently, actually must lay by for repair from pleasure trips, so here they are voicing the sentiments of Payne: "Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home."

TRUCK GROWERS

Hold Interesting Meetings and Plan For Organization—Stock Being Taken.

At a meeting of the Jefferson country truck growers of this section held at the Bank of Buechel last Saturday the following resolutions were adopted:

"That the growers form an association with a capital of $1,500, divided into 300 shares of $5.00 each. No grower to hold more than ten shares and to commence business as soon as $750 of said stock is paid in. The object being to divide the stock between as many growers as possible. The business to be conducted similar to the association at St. Matthews, which has proven satisfactory in every respect."

The meeting met again last night at Breckinridge schools and completed plans for securing subscribers for stock in the new association, and several shares were subscribed for at this meeting. Papers are being circulated among growers of Jefferson, Hines, Pikes, and other places in this part of the county, and it is believed there will be no trouble in raising the amount of the capital stock.

The next meeting will be held next Saturday, March 2, at the Bank of Buechel, when final preparations will be made for organization. It is hoped that a large crowd will be present at this meeting, as a movement of this kind bespeaks success for the growers of this section. If a sufficient effort is made upon the part of farmers and growers, they may expect great results from their efforts.

A SKETCH OF WASHINGTON.

Miss B. B. Hummel, twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hummel, had the honor of writing the best sketch of George Washington among the pupils of the eighth grade in Calvary school, of which Miss Mary Driscoll is teacher, and her paper was read at the Washington celebration at Calvary on Washington's birthday. Miss B. B. is the youngest member of her class she has just reason for being proud of the fact that she received the highest average. Her sketch of Washington follows:

George Washington was born February 22, 1732, at West Moreland, Virginia.

He was the third son of Mr. Augustine Washington, and the great grandson of Mr. John Washington.

He was left fatherless at eleven years of age; his education was directed by his mother, a woman of strong character, who kindly, but firmly, exacted obedience.

Before his thirteenth year he had copied forms for all kinds of legal and mercantile papers. His manuscript school books, which still exist, are models of neatness and accuracy.

He inherited great wealth, and the antiquity of his family gave him high social rank.

On his Potomac farms he had hundreds of slaves, and at his Mount Vernon home he was like the Prince of a wide domain, free from dependence or restraint.

He always rode on horseback, his family had a chariot and four, with black postilions and scarlet and white livery.

While at home he spent much of his time in riding and hunting. He rose early, ate his breakfast and then rode about his estate; this evening he would sit with his family around the blazing hearth, retiring between nine and ten. He loved to linger at the table, cracking nuts, and relating his adventures.

In personal appearance Washington was over six feet in height, robust, graceful and perfectly erect.

He had great dread of public life, cared little for books, and possessed no library.

A consistent Christian, he was a vestry man and regular attendant of the Episcopal church.

As president he was equally at home in his office, but his policy once settled, pursued it with steadiness and dignity, however great the opposition. As an officer, he was brave, enterprising and cautious. He was capable of great victory, commanding at all times and irrespective when aroused, he exercised equal authority over himself and army.

Europe and America died in tributes to his memory. Said Lord Brougham, "until times shall be so dire, a test of man's wisdom and virtue will be derived from the veneration paid to the immortal name Washington."

Washington left no children. It has been beautifully said, "providence left him childless" that his country might call him father.

George Washington was chosen President of the United States for a term of four years.

His journey from Mount Vernon to New York, the capital, was a continual ovation. At Trenton his reception was very beautiful and touching. A triumphal arch was erected, decorated by thirteen columns decorated with evergreen. Upon this arch were inscribed the words, "The Defender of the Mothers will be the protector of the Daughters."

As the president rode up to the arch, he was met by a throng of mothers and young girls dressed in white, while they sang an ode of welcome, scattered flowers in their hero's way.

The inauguration took place in the presence of a large concourse of people on the 30th of April, 1789, at which Washington was re-elected. Though a federalist himself, Washington selected his cabinet from men of both parties.

Washington's parting words to Saint Clair, when the latter was about to set forth on his campaign, were, "You know how the Indians fight; be ware of a surprise."

Washington on the fourth of March, 1797, retired from office, having previously published his farewell address to his fellow citizens, this document was universally read, and its value scarcely diminished with the lapse of time.

His last illness was brief, and his closing hours were marked by his usual calmness and dignity. "Die hard," said he, "but I am not afraid to go." He died December 14, 1799, at the age of 67 years.

The present occupant of the Washington plantation in West Moreland County, Virginia, is named George Washington.

MEETING

Of The Citizens Telephone Company—Shows Rapid Growth.

The Citizens Telephone Company held its annual stockholders meeting in January in the hall at Fern Creek. There was a large and enthusiastic crowd present, even some of the ladies were in attendance, and more than half the stockholders were present.

The regular routine of business rapidly disposed of and then came the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The old board of directors was unanimously reelected with Dr. W. M. Rush nominated and elected vice president to take the place of Mr. Edd. Miller, who had moved away from the neighborhood.

The president gave a very instructive talk on the subject of telephone service and after the irregular and unusual business was disposed of, the company adjourned to meet April 1, 1912.

What the Company is Doing.

The Citizens Telephone Co., of Fern Creek, installed its first box March 1st, 1911. Since that time the company has been making rapid strides of progress and development. More than ninety men of the most substantial citizens of Fern Creek, Ashville, Fairmont, Seatonville, Smyrna and Newington, are stock holders, which indicates the continuing growth and progress of the company.

Over 50 miles of poles have been set, and several hundred miles of wire strung. A plot of ground was secured on the Bardstown Road and a commodious and well arranged house and office built, in which was installed the exchange of the Western Electric Company's best make.

There has been a pressing demand for service in this company from the very first and up to this date 14 boxes have been placed in homes and businesses; four of this section and two trunk lines connected with the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company in the city of Louisville and long distance throughout all parts of the country make this company a very important factor in the business community.

The demand for boxes at the present time is so pressing the company is unable to meet the call; more than forty boxes are asked for at this time, and as soon as the weather will permit they will be put into service.

A new trunk line connecting the two companies, Fern Creek and Jeffersontown, is much appreciated by the box holders of both companies, as it brings such a convenience. The service is free between the two exchanges to all box holders.

The Central Telephone Company, consisting of twenty stock holders and its lines extending from Fern Creek to Seatonville, united with the Citizens Telephone Company at a recent meeting and is now a part of the Citizens Company. We think this is a step in the right direction, as it will bring the two stronger and give better service to those who come in, and all are delighted with the union of the two companies.

The Citizens Telephone Company is growing rapidly and bids fair to become in the near future one of the leading telephone companies in Jefferson county.

At our next meeting, April 1st, the stockholders are urged to be present and are invited to bring their wives and daughters.

COMMUNITY MOURNS

DEATH OF GOOD CITIZEN.

In the death of Squire David McKinley, who died of pneumonia at his home here Sunday morning, the community loses one of its best citizens. A man of high integrity and love for his fellowmen, "Uncle Sam" as he was familiarly and lovingly called by hosts of friends, will be greatly missed. We can ill afford to lose his kind, and may the example he has set be a beacon light to guide us in paths of square dealing with our fellows is the wish of The Jeffersonian.

INDISCIPLINE IN DRESS

CAUSE OF TUBERCULOSIS.

A fellow walked down the street Tuesday with his socks exposed on top of his shoes, wearing sandals. And some of the ladies with the consummate-cut low-neck dresses thought that said fellow was in the right. We let him up to the debating societies, which is the more susceptible to injury from exposure, milldy's lungs or a man's ankles?—Cuthbertson.

If members of the women's clubs would consider the danger from wearing scanty apparel and act as their good judgment would teach them, there would be less tuberculosis and little need of taxing the people to maintain tuberculosis hospitals. Go to the city any cold day, when the thermometer registers zero, and you will see women parading the streets in low neck dresses, low-cut shoes and stockings a stone's throw apart. We let him up to the debating societies, which is the more susceptible to injury from exposure, milldy's lungs or a man's ankles?—Cuthbertson.

DUROCS

In the Southland Subject of Paper

Read By Charles C.
Wheeler.

The following paper was read by Col. Charles C. Wheeler, of Buechel, at the annual meeting of the Ohio Duroc Breeders' Association, at Dayton, Ohio, Thursday evening, February 6, and published in the Farmers Home Journal:

"Some twenty-two years ago the first Duroc Jersey made his appearance into the immediate locality where I lived in Kentucky. He was a boar pig about six months old and came from a breeder somewhere in the North. I never knew just where he came from. He was indeed a curiosity and people came miles to see him. He was a great big coarse fellow, and had bones that would doubtless satisfy the most exacting advocate of heavy bone. I am sure he had the kind of bone that these fellows are always claiming. Some one once told me that he weighed incidentally that he had some car also. He grew like a weed and at two years old he was as big as a three year old Texas steer and about as high off the ground, and if he happened to get into the barn or even in the horse lot he had to back out in order to have room enough to turn around. I am only too glad to say that I have never seen a Duroc like him since.

"The first shipment of Durocs to our locality consisted of a boar and two gilts from a breeder in Indiana. They were ten months old and the three weighed a total of four hundred and fifty pounds, and they were of three distinct types, any one of which if followed would have put a man out of business.

"You may think that this was only the experience of one man and that other parties fared better in their purchases, but such was not the case; several others fare badly, one who I know had a gilt and a boar, and she only had the tail swells.

"I have never before since seen one with so many swells. One man who had been accorded some of this kind of treatment went back to raising Poland Chinas, giving as his reason that some of the breeders seemed to think that the South was a good place to get rid of what they could not sell anywhere else, and he did not care to try the game any longer.

"I believe that people in the South were partly to blame, for we incidentally left the market for meat, not at that time educated up to the point where we could see our way clear to pay from fifty to one hundred dollars for a boar gilt. Nodnold many of you breeders present have heard your gilt and your boar, and you may find that for that money, I am glad to say that these conditions did not long prevail.

"A few good herds were started in the South a good many years ago by men who were progressive and who were determined in their efforts, who, when they wanted new blood for their herds, visited the reputable breeders of the North, or attended the sales held by these breeders and by making good selections, and by taking lessons for the animals that they believed would improve their herds.

"By these judicious purchases and later by the wisdom displayed in mating and crossing of bloodlines, we find as there now stand good Durocs that can and do win in any competition, as the records of the past year's show reveal to you, all of which is history now.

"The record of the Duroc demonstrates his superior worth over other breeds in the South and there is no stopping them, and today they by far outnumber other breeds. I can well remember when a Duroc was a rare sight, and today 75 per cent of the hogs you see here are either Durocs or Duroc blood predominating. I am indeed glad to say to you that they are gaining ground every day and new breeders are springing up everywhere, and it is gratifying to know that most of them are beginning right by buying the best.

"We believe we are conducting the business along the proper lines, and we realize that the South and is well adapted to the hog industry and that it shall be a Duroc land well known for our Duroc hams, bacon, hams, etc.

"With the co-operation of you Northern breeders we hope to see the red beauties basking in the sunshine, causing a fair price for the same.

"We have a sheaf of pure gold on every barn kiss'd bill of our sunny South land."

LETTER FROM THE PEOPLE.

FOR THE JEFFERSONIAN: We take the liberty to ask you a little space in your valuable paper which stands for the benefit and betterment of the conditions of Jefferson county.

It is almost a well known fact that there are residents of no other community in magisterial district No. 2 that have to travel over such bad roads as we, the residents of Old Heady road, Hopewell road and Chenoweth's Run road. About ten years ago we received about three-fourths of a mile of new pine, and last year we had about two hundred yards of repairing done. Now, the question is, what will become of the rest of Old Heady road?

Now, comes Hopewell road. We wonder, those who are compelled to travel through it. It is hard to make a picture of it, but the road speaks for itself.

Now, comes Chenoweth's Run road. Oh, Lord, didn't we make a mistake, we wanted to say Chenoweth's Run "outlet." That is, if one is lucky enough to get out. We invite, now, every resident on these roads and everybody that is interested in a good road movement to attend a meeting, which will be held at Calvary school March the ninth at 2 P.M. We will have a speaker on conditions towards bettering the conditions on our roads. We extend a special invitation to our magistrate, Mr. Charles Wheeler, to attend this meeting in order to come in contact with the residents of this section and view the condition of our roads. We think he will be pleased with the result of the meeting.

Special invitations will be sent to the residents on these three roads. Signed,

SHALL WE HAVE GOOD ROADS

In this age of progressiveness, intelligence and education among farmers it seems almost a reflection upon the intelligence of Kentucky farmers to urge them to take an interest in the present movement to secure good country roads. The United States government has at last awakened not only to the necessity of good roads but to the importance of adopting and carrying out a system of constructing and maintaining them, and is arranging to cooperate with those States whose people exhibit intelligence and enterprise enough to accept such aid from the National government. The Bowditch good roads bill now pending in the Kentucky legislature will, if enacted into a law, place our State in a position to share in the millions of dollars that the National government will soon have available for such work. Farmers over our State should let their representatives know that they demand the passage of this bill. Carelessness or indifference on the part of farmers may cause the defeat of this bill, which means so much to the upbuilding of our State.—Farmers Home Journal.

PUBLIC SALE!

OF VALUABLE LANDS TO SETTLE ESTATE.

We will offer at public sale to the highest bidder, on the premises, at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, MARCH 11, 1912

110 acres of land, divided into two tracts, and known as situated on the Cedar Creek Lane County Road, about $\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of the Bardstown Turnpike and about 23 miles from Fern Creek, Elizabethtown, Kentucky, and about 10 miles from the City of Louisville, and on Cedar Creek, 80 acres in one tract, the remainder of the County Road, and 30 acres immediately opposite.

There is some timber and uncleared land on each tract. The improvements are unimportant, but there is a small house and a fairly good barn on the premises, and never failing water from springs, pond, and Cedar Creek, several thousand berry plants, etc.

The neighborhood is first-class: good macadamized roads, schools, churches, etc.

The tract will be offered first separately and then as a whole, the highest amounts in the aggregate to be accepted.

Land is constantly increasing in value and there is a speculation on the property. The absence of buildings will allow the purchaser to make improvements suitable to his needs. This land must be sold to settle an estate, and may possibly go cheap. There is a splendid opportunity here to get back to the soil, avoid high cost of living, and prosper, as only farmers and trust magnates have done within the past few years.

Patties desiring to attend the sale from Louisville, or along the Bardstown Road, can take Interurban Line and go to Fern Creek at the end of the line, where conveyances will be in waiting to convey them to the farm.

TERMS—One-third cash; balance in one and two years; a deposit of $100.00 to be made at time of sale.

Governing Boys' Corn Clubs in County.

Supt. Stivers Announces Conditions and Plan For Organization—Awards.

County School Superintendent Orville J. Stivers announces the rules and regulations governing the boy's corn clubs, which are being gained in Jefferson county this spring. Mr. Stivers is very anxious to have the names of boys from 10 to 20 years of age, that will join a club, as it will be necessary to have names of entries by the 15th of April. It is hoped that a large number of boys all over the county will enter and help place Jefferson county in the front rank of all other counties.

Mr. Stivers' plan is to get some local citizens interested enough to offer additional premiums, and it goes without saying that some handsome prizes will be offered.

Following are the awards as offered by the State:

AWARDS.

To each boy growing sixty bushels of corn or more an appropriate diploma will be given signed by the Governor of the State, the Commissioner of Agriculture, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Superintendent of the County.

To the boy in each county who grows the greatest amount of corn upon one acre, free tuition and board at State University during "Farmers' Week" will be given.

To the boy growing the greatest amount of corn upon one acre in each of the four sections into which the State has been divided, a four year scholarship in the State University or State Normal Schools will be given.

To the boy growing the greatest amount of corn upon one acre in the State, a trophy valued at $100 will be awarded.

To the boy sending the best ten ears of corn to Lexington to be judged at the State Corn Show held the first week in January, 1912, a trophy valued at $100 will be awarded.

To the three boys who prove themselves the best judges of corn during the Farmers' Week at Lexington, awards or cups valued at twenty, ten and five dollars respectively will be given.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Each contestant must have been enrolled as a pupil in a public school within the year preceding the time of his becoming a member of the Boys' Corn Club in his county for the year 1912.

Each member of the Boys' Corn Club must be between the ages of 10 and 20 years.

Each member must grow one acre of corn—not a fraction of an acre.

Seed corn will be furnished by the Department of Agriculture through the County Superintendent, but any member may buy seed corn of their own selecting. If he prefers to do so, no seed corn will be furnished after May 1, 1912. Entries must be made by the 15th of April. Corn may be planted at any time previous to June 1st. No county will be furnished more than ten bushels of seed corn.

All corn must be white corn. Any member may break, fertilize and cultivate as he chooses; but all prize winners must furnish the Department of Agriculture with a sample of the corn when it is harvested. The corn was grown upon request, and must keep an account of the cost of production as nearly as possible. In estimating expenses charge labor of the boy at seven and one-half cents per hour; each team hitched to implement at twenty cents per hour; each single horse and implement at ten cents per hour; and rent of land at $5.00 per acre.

7. Land must be measured and yield certified to under oath before Notary Public or other person authorized to administer oaths in this state by three disinterested persons appointed by the county school superintendent, to whom they shall report and he must certify to the commissioner of Agriculture that he believes the report to be correct.

8. Any representative of the Department of Agriculture must be shown, upon request, the acre of ground entered by any boy.

In case of boys entered, with their post-office address, must be furnished the Department of Agriculture by the County Superintendent on or before September 1, 1912.

10. Premiums offered by the Department of Agriculture may be supplemented by individuals, firms or corporation or by cities and counties, to be applied where requested by donor.

ABOUT OUR SCHOOL.

I have read a great deal in our good country paper, the Jeffersonian, about schools. There are a great many things to be brought together when it comes to the point of making up a school. In the first place, a $40,000 school house is no good by itself. We all know that. It must be equipped with all necessary equipments pertaining to a school room. Then the next thing is to secure teachers, and what kind you want? A thirty-year teacher to go into a $40,000 school building hardly. No, we want a teacher that is up-to-date in every respect, and one who will take an interest in the welfare of the boys and girls.

Now the main thing, according to my judgment, in having a good school is this: The parents must co-operate with the teacher. Parents cannot expect their children to get along as they should so long as they are teaching them to contradict what the teacher says about them. If the teacher corrects our children, let us stand by her in the matter, for all children need correcting; also, publishing sometimes.

If I were educated like some of the writers of letters I have read in The Jeffersonian, I would write a longer letter and write oftener, but as I am a poor scholar I will not tax the typesetters with a very long list this time. But I want to say, however, a few words to the parents of the best teachers in the country and what we want to do is to put our shoulders to the wheel and help her to push the good work along. We also want to get around our good trustee, Mr. A. A. Bridwell, and have him employ Miss Bach to teach our school here again next winter. On account of the good work she is doing here, I don't think we ought to give her up.

Those who have suffered from neuralgic pains need not be told how necessary it is to secure relief. The easiest way out of neuralgic pain is Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They have relieved sufferers for so many years that they have become a household remedy.

"I have taken Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for five years and they are the only thing that relieves my pain. They have relieved neuralgia in my head in fifteen minutes. I have also had great relief from sciatica, rheumatism, pains in the breast, toothache, earache and pains in the bowels and kidneys. I have found them to equal them and they are all that is claimed for them."

Education and inspiration are the objects of the exposition. It has been organized and is under the management of committees of Cincinnati men of the highest standing and reputation, who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable all expense to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. The south hall of Music Hall group of buildings will be called the “Hall of the Homeland,” and it will be filled with scenes and figures representing American Mission work in all parts of the United States. The visitor will first enter a large space where there will be represented the life of the American Indian and the Eskimos of the north, and the results of Christian work among them. The scene will have all of the characteristics of a large encampment of Indians in the northwest.

Another important department of Home Missions will be illustrated in another scene. Visitors will be surrounded by views of prairies and mountains.

Another demonstration which represents non-Christian life, directly at home, will be an American Indian scene. This scene, consisting of four parts, and shown by 27 people, represents the modern Indian as it is directly typical of the manners and customs of the present generation of the old-time tee of the pastface.

In Operatic Splendor and in Unity of Story, Pageant of Darkness and Light Will Excel. All Those of the Past—Will Be Given in Connection with “The World in Cincinnati” Missionary Exposition, to Be Held in the Queen City, March 9 to April 6.

A great revival of interest in pageantry has sprung up in this country and abroad during the last few years. We have had historical pageants, many patriotic and semi-political pageants in various cities and towns;

The next scene is an Indian camp in the northwest. The chief of the tribe and his wife are in distress over the loss of their little daughter, who has strayed away. A band of Sioux come to trade with the Indians.

The speaker has not, as yet, been selected. Colonel Hale of the Ohio National Guard will be Grand Marshal and take charge of the arrangements for all parades.

She taunts Pale India with her arrows, and the arrow bursts from the crater of fire, and the power of the goddess is broken forever.

The music for these episodes was written by H. H. Gieseck, and it is naturally of solid foreign dance and dirges. There are gloomy Indian chants and bloodthirsty war songs; missionary choruses of jubilee and hymns of praise; fanatical invocations of medicine men and native priests; and many solos of every description.

FEATURES OF “WORLD IN CINCINNATI”

Great Missionary Parades and Mass Meetings.

Great missionary parades and mass meetings will be features of three of the four Sundays during the period of the “World in Cincinnati” Exposition in open in the Music Hall. The exposition itself will not be open on Sunday, nor will the pageant of Darkness and Light be presented.

The first of these demonstrations will be held on Sunday, March 10, the day after opening, when there will be a mass meeting for men in Music Hall, preceded by parade. All men, young and old, of the Clergy and laymen's organizations of the churches participating in the exposition will take part. It is expected that several thousand will turn out in line for the parade. The speaker of the occasion will be Mr. J. Campbell, State Superintendent of New York General Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary movement.

March 15th will be Ladies' Day. The management of the exposition have secured Miss Evangeline Booth, Commandant-in-Chief of the Salvation

Sixty leading missionaries from all parts of the world are to be in Cincinnati during “The World in Cincinnati” Exposition, which will be held in Music Hall, Cincinnati, O., from March 9 to April 6. The speakers in Cincinnati will be on duty at Music Hall in the departments which are representative of the countries from which they come. Their duties will consist of giving information to visitors and instructing them in the ways of the exposition in their work. Short addresses by the missionaries will be given daily upon interesting subjects bearing upon foreign life and conditions, of which they are recognized authority.

The last Sunday of the exposition, March 24, will be known as Children's Day, when all children in Sunday schools will join in a parade preceding a meeting in Music Hall. The speaker has not, as yet, been selected.

Colonel Hale of the Ohio National Guard will be Grand Marshal and take charge of the arrangements for all parades.

THREE GREAT HALLS.

“The World in Cincinnati” Exposition, which is to be held in Music Hall, Cincinnati, from March 9 to April 6, will occupy every square inch of the entire Music Hall group of buildings. Those who have visited expositions in this famous structure know that there is a large auditorium in the center, with exhibit halls on either side. For the purpose of the exposition, the Auditorium will be converted into the “Hall of Foreign Lands,” and the south exhibition hall will be the “Hall of the Homeless,” while the main auditorium will be known as the “Great Hall.”

Both floors of the “Hall of Foreign Lands” will be occupied by the sections devoted to the scenery and the impersonations of life in foreign and the medicine men of the latter incite the braves to kill the visitors. Just then a messenger brings the chief's little daughter into camp, and the priest, gazing on the chief's good wife, gives the people his message of light.

The scene shifts to Africa, at night, when the famous and renowned explorer, is resting from his journeys. Here Stanley, who has been searching for him, finds him lost in thought and begs him to return to England, but Livingstone determines not to give up his work, and so his news his men break into a song of thanksgiving.

From the forests of Africa, the scene changes to the streets of a city in India. A funeral procession is seen, men in a procession, men advanced by the guarantee to be paid.

Should a profit remain after this has been done, it will be turned over to the Missionary Education Movement for the extension of the same.

The great missionary boards and societies are supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

THE WORLD IN CINCINNATI—Every part of the world will be represented. Large areas of the hall will be devoted to India, Japan, China, Korea, Burmah, Africa, Palestine, Persia, Turkey and other countries.

In the Hall of the Homeland, there will be sections devoted to the scenes of life in various parts of the United States and its colonial possessions.

supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

The exposition will demonstrate to the eye, by providing beautiful, artistic things to see, the scenery of all lands where the work of Christian missions is carried on, the life of the people of those lands, their native religions and their needs from both a humanitarian and religious point of view.

Life-like scenes will surround each room, a section enclosing groups of buildings copied from the characteristic town or village structure of each land. The first sensation of visitors will be the recognition that before their eyes is a feast of color and a spectacle never rarely seen in the gaze of the untravelled American. In the north hall of the Music Hall group of buildings, to be called the “Hall of Foreign Lands,” will be located the sections devoted to foreign lands, and visitors can travel to them little imagination will be needed to make you feel you are traveling in the Orient. The Japanese scene will be dominated by a Buddhist temple with the Torii arch before it. There will be little shops and rooms from Japan.

tions will be that devoted to work among immigrants at the Ellis Island Immigration Station, New York Harbor, Splendid results in the Philippines, Hawaii, in Samoa, Porto Rico and China, of course, the religious life of the people, will also be illustrated in a most interesting way.

Populating all the scenes, both of the foreign lands and the home land, impersonating the natives of every country will be visitors, the seeing of everything that may see, will be an army of 5,000 stewards from churches of Cincinnati and vicinity. There will be prepared to answer every question, to visitors, by weeks of study from appropriate books. Nearly all will wear the costume of the scene to which they are assigned, and they will serve in relay, so that at all times there will be a sufficient number on duty to give life, character and color to the exposition.

THE WORLD IN CINCINNATI—The great missionary boards and societies who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable all expense to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. Mrs. L. C. Owings and Daughter.

Mrs. L. C. Owings and Miss Louise

Owings were hostesses at a kitchen shower given on Tuesday for Mrs. Lud M. Bryan. Miss Ethel Sprowl.

About thirty-five ladies enjoyed the hospitality of this charming home and Mrs. Bryan was overwhelmed showered with costly and useful articles for her kitchen.

Miss Louise Owings, in the afternoon "handbook for housewives" was circulated among the guests. The book contained pages for dainty cooking receipts and for "dos and don'ts" for a newly married lady and each guest contributed her valuable information learned in the hard school of experience. Much merriment was caused by the "dos and don'ts." A delicious lunch was served and the favors were miniature kitchen tables with tiny rolling pins attached.

MIDDLETOWN

In Need of Lights and Side Walks.

Negro Minstrel To Be Given Church, Social and Other News of Interest.

Middletown, Feb. 29.—Mrs. Garrett Lee and little daughter, Catherine, have been quite ill of gripe.

Minstrel Show.

A fine minstrel show, composed of some of the best local talents in Middletown, will be given at the Masonic Hall, Franklin, next Saturday at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of helping to purchase a fire engine for the town. The show will be given under the auspices of the Commercial Club and a large crowd is desired. The admission fee will be 15 cents.

Some Things Needed.

There is talk in our town of having new streets and lights. Think what it would mean to be able to walk Middletown after twilight at a fair gait with heads up. We need a number of things, but above all we need lights and sidewalks; not sections of rotten planks, rocking like a seesaw top, not a hand's width of sand-laying rocks, none of these things. Just a clean, level sweep of concrete walks, say from Henry Weatherbee's residence uptown to possibly Mr. Lloyd Gates' residence. This may sound like a fairy tale, but it's nothing in the world but a very practical proposition. We simply need three things for the success of the Commercial Club: union, earnestness and energy.

Interesting Programme.

The C. W. B. M. missionary society met with Mrs. Henry Pearcey last Thursday afternoon from 2 till 4 o'clock, at her home in the eastern part of town. An interesting programme was rendered. Mrs. Lawrence Cox led the devotional service. Mrs. Viola Caldwell had an interesting paper on South America, both the Bolivian and Chilean sides of the Andes; Mrs. John Waters read a paper "Do women count in China?" After the program Mrs. Pearcey served delightful refreshments. Those who attended were Mrs. B. T. Coleman, Mrs. Will Hord, Mrs. Viola Caldwell, Mrs. John Waters, Mrs. John Tatchein, Mrs. Will Wood, Mrs. Lawrence Cox, Mrs. Mattie Blumer, Mrs. C. L. McDonald, Mrs. Omer Jones, Mrs. Will Blackwell and Miss Ethel Wood.

Superintendents Honored.

There was a complimentary entertainment given at the Methodist church last Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. James Urton, superintendent of the Sunday school, and L. P. Weatherbee, assistant superintendent. Mr. Chas. Weatherbee was toast master and Mr. James Urton had a fine address of response. There was an interesting programme. Those who spoke were as follows: Prof. Horn, Efficiency of the superintendent; Mr. T. O. Gaines, How can we help the Superintendent; Mr. James Blankenship, Hindrances of the Superintendents; Mr. Marshall Russell, Origin of the Sunday School; Mrs. Horn had a spicy journal on the Sunday school work; Mr. Geo. Schenck select reading, The changing of the Ethiopian. A solo was sung by Miss Grace Russell; Miss Viola Weatherbee, recitation, "What I live for." Many of the Juniors assisted with songs and recitations. This was an evening long to be remembered.

Mr. E. M. Coleman, of O'Bannon, made an address to the Commercial Club at Masonic hall Saturday evening. A large crowd was out to hear Mr. Coleman speak.

Mr. Chas. Weatherbee went to Frankfort Monday to attend the State Farmers Institute.

A Great Combination Offer.

By special arrangement with the FARM JOURNAL we are enabled to make an offer that will attract every subscriber who is interested in farm stock or poultry raising.

Every live farmer knows the Farm Journal. Three-quarters of a million of the most progressive and prosperous farmers take it now, which is more than subscribe to any other farm paper on earth.

It's not so big as some papers, mainly because it knows when to stop talking. Its motto is "Cream, not water," not taking you for a long time, not a hand's width of sand-laying rocks, none of these things. Just a clean, level sweep of concrete walks, say from Henry Weatherbee's residence uptown to possibly Mr. Lloyd Gates' residence. This may sound like a fairy tale, but it's nothing in the world but a very practical proposition. We simply need three things for the success of the Commercial Club: union, earnestness and energy.

It's always you about the things that need to be done now, so that a farmer who reads it regularly is not often bothered with him.

Everybody who once gets the habit of reading the Farm Journal wants to keep right on, so the publishers don't take any extra subscriptions, nor money, but you can get it for years for $1.00, and ten years for only $1.50.

We have made arrangements by which we can offer to all subscribers THE JEFFERSONIAN for one year and the FARM JOURNAL for FIVE years, BOTH for $1.10.

The Farm Journal people also publish a remarkable series of booklets, "Poultry Secrets," "Horse Secrets," "Cow Secrets," and others, that are great sensations. They're sold only by booklets separately, but only with complete satisfaction.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pittenger and son, Dale, of Fisherville, spent Sunday with W. D. Dale, who continues quite ill.

Rev. E. W. Elliott conducted his regular service at Bethel Church Sunday afternoon. The members of the congregation, who were glad to have him with them once more, it being two months since he was in the neighborhood, there being no service held on the fourth Sunday in January on account of the inclemency of the weather.

Several from here attended the play, "A Spider's Web," which was given by home talent at the school house at Elk Creek, February 17th. There were two performances, one in the afternoon and one at night, and the neat little sum which they obtained and which is to be used for the school building, gave evidence of its success. The same play will be given at the concert house in Taylorsville Tuesday night and probably at other points in the near future.

Quite a little excitement was created one night recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Dyke, when their little son, William Richard, was discovered with a box containing calomel tablets in his mouth. The little one in playing around came across the medicine, which had been used and set aside for future use by some member of the family, and child like did the most natural thing in the world and the took it in his mouth. The family not knowing how many he might have swallowed became very much alarmed and hurriedly summoned a physician.

We are glad to say the little fellow suffered no ill effects from his experience.

Buy Morgan Horses.

Louis C. Peck, owner of a ranch near Lennox, S. D., purchased five horses of the famous Morgan strain of L. L. Dorsey, of Anchorage. They will be used for breeding purposes at the Government remount station, near Miles City, Mont. None of the many horses of this strain that he has purchased, Mr. Peck declares, has ever been refused on account of a blemish.
